Dan Schuck's Return to Stage to Performance

[Long Beach, CA, April 2020] — Acoustic guitar musician and singer, Dan Schuck's return to the stage has been severely delayed by the current coronavirus situation. Dan will be available for entertainment engagements, hopefully, later in the year as stay-at-home orders are slowly reversed across California. We're going to need Musicians and Entertainers on that fine day – and Dan will be at the ready!

While he has spent the greater part of four decades developing his own sound, his music is not without a tasteful backdrop of influence from the likes of Paul Simon, James Taylor, Jim Croce and Willie Nelson to name just a few. His wide-ranging influences find its way into his solo material, and as a result, his solo acoustic sets are hard to pigeonhole.

In the meantime – Dan will be working on Live Streaming performances from his home. Visit <http://DanSchuckMusic.com> or see @DanSchuckMusic on Facebook or YouTube for more information.

With over 40 years of experience in entertaining crowds of all shapes and sizes, Dan's 'campfire' style is suitable for cross-generational audiences in want of sing-along, laugh-along, cry-along and dance-along fun!
